

10072017Response to Pat Buchanan's Dead Soul Stephen Paddock
My Friends

I read Pat Buchanan's articles twice per week because that is the only times he post them. I see Pat as certainly the best of the political writers but also as one of the last honest political writers. While others are seeking a motive for Stephen Paddock's evil slaughter of innocent concert goers, Pat nails the evildoer's motive., How he nails it, scares the hell out of me for what he sees, and I believe, is that we all are in the crosshairs of all those God naysayers that seek immortality. Not from God, but from those that control the media and the media's message. I grew up in a time when every home was policed. No! not by those guys in blue with badges, but by God Fearing Parents, that were supported by God Fearing Teachers, that were governed by God Fearing Politicians. They all taught us the Rewards of eternal happiness in Heaven, versus the Punishment in the fires of Hell. But That was Then and This is now. What changed? We are now taught to coexist with evil people that spit on God's laws and His plan for mankind and until we do something about that, we, the innocent, will remain in the crosshairs of the evil.
