

7/27/17 Response to Pat Buchanan's Is Trump Entering a Kill Box?

Pat,

In whom does the definition of "Nut Case" reside? It could be James Comey but I would give Donald J. Trump that title. His insane, immature, non-presidential, tweeting at the evening's ebbs of darkness in all cases, makes him really some kind of a Nut. Did I vote for Trump, you betcha I did. Why? Because he ran on my, and the rest of the "Drain the Swamp" Movement's message. But was that enough to elect him President? Not at all. A lot of chips had to fall in place to get him across the finish line. First Chip that needed to fall was to get rid of Bernie Sanders, the Give Away King. It was done by not indicting Hillary. Then the next Chip that needed to Fall was to demonize Hillary as to lessen her chances of winning. Which happened on July 5th 2016 and again, by a letter to Congress, on October 28th. And Who, Pray Tell, was responsible for both of those falling chips? Why it was no other than the not a case for nuts, James Comey. So what happens if Donald J. Trump gets impeached or resigns, well the beat still goes on and the Movement's momentum gets steamrolling once again as it is handed a real president in Michael Richard Pence, Same drum beat but the Movement is back on track undistracted and mostly unobstructed with Jeff Sessions and all the other superior cabinet heads in place. The only downside I see in getting rid of the Donald is that we men in the movement would really miss looking at Melania Trump.
